N.W.2d at 467-68. Here, the State introduced evidence that a drug dog “alerted” to the presence of narcotics in the vehicle in which Matthews was riding, and the officer who conducted the dog sniff testified that he had “trained and certified” the dog. The officer further testified that he had been trained to “search this vehicle” since the inception of his training. The officer conducted the dog sniff of Matthews’ vehicle upon arrival at the scene, and the officer testified that he had continued to “search” the vehicle after the dog sniff.
Accordingly, the district court did not abuse its discretion in concluding that the officer’s search of Matthews’ vehicle was not a pretext to search for evidence of a crime rather than a dog sniff for drug possession. We conclude that the district court properly considered the officer’s testimony regarding the drug dog’s experience and training in reaching its decision that the search of Matthews’ vehicle was not a pretextual investigative search. We affirm the district court’s denial of Matthews’ motion to suppress. AFFIRMED. 1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to an exposure apparatus and a method for producing a device using the same, and a device produced thereby. The exposure apparatus is used in a lithographic process for producing, for example, semiconductor elements, liquid crystal display elements, image pickup elements (CCDs), thin-film magnetic heads, thin-film solar cells, or the like, and in particular, to exposure apparatus suitably used for photolithography for a semiconductor element, called a microdevice, such as IC or LSI. More particularly, the invention relates to an exposure apparatus for transferring an image of a pattern formed on a mask (reticle) onto a photosensitive substrate (a substrate to be exposed) by using a projection optical system. 2. Related Background Art Conventionally, as a projection exposure apparatus for projecting a circuit pattern formed on a mask (reticle) onto a substrate (wafer)

4 item. Where is the batman arkham city launcher.ini It's described as an error associated with steam - supposedly caused by a rather large file in the game's configuration files which causes the launcher to fail to start. (file link removed) The file mentioned above is listed as having a size of 81 KB according to both a command line input and the zip file. I can't find it, or any other configuration file with the name indicated. I'd imagine it would be somewhere in the Steam folder, as the error page says "If you were using the game on Steam, delete the Batmobile.ini file from this directory." I had just installed Batman: Arkham City GOTY, which apparently includes a rather large Batmobile.ini configuration file. I have no idea where it is - either I deleted it, or it's not what Steam is complaining about. A: Turns out I didn't have to go digging around for a configuration file. It was already in the game's folder. Batmobile.ini Q: countdown timer? is there any way to create a countdown timer similar to the times when you press the home button and the home screen pops up with the countdown timer? the date is already set for January 1, 2013. just a little of an idea which i can carry out with the help of the code thank you A: Try this. It works in the iPhone Simulator but not on my phone. - (IBAction) startTimer:(id)sender { _time = [NSDate dateWithTimeIntervalSinceNow:9]; _date = [NSDate dateWithTimeIntervalSinceNow:-60]; _timerView = [[UILabel alloc] initWithFrame:CGRectMake(0,0,300,0)]; _timerView.text = [NSString stringWithFormat:@"%@", [self minutesToString:_time, _date]]; [self.view addSubview:_timerView]; } -(NSString *) minutesToString: (NSTimeInterval)time, (NSDate *)date { NSCalendar *gregorian = [[NSCalendar alloc] initWithCalendarIdentifier:NSGregorian f678ea9f9e
